Part XIV Supplemental Information

Complete this part to provide the descriptions required for Part II, lines 3, 5, and 9; Part III, lines 1a and 4; Part IV, lines 1b and 2b; Part V, line 4; Part X, line 2; Part XI, line 8; Part XII, lines 2d and 4b; and Part XIII, lines 2d and 4b. Also complete this part to provide any additional information.

Part X, line 2: "The League has adopted the accounting standard related to uncertain income tax positions. The standard requires that an uncertain income tax position must be more likely than not (greater than 50% likelihood of realization) before it is recognized in the consolidated financial statements. Furthermore, the standard requires that the amount recognized be the same as that which would be determined as a result of a review by tax authorities having all relevant information. During the years ended June 30, 2011 and 2010, management did not identify any uncertain income tax positions. At a minimum, the June 30, 2008 through 2011 tax years are open for examination by taxing authorities."

Part III, lines 4 a, b, and c, Exempt purpose achievements: Last year, we saw a comprehensive effort to roll back voting rights and shrink the electorate, with dozens of states enacting new voter suppression laws that erected burdensome photo ID and proof of citizenship requirements; restricted or eliminated early voting; and threatened independent voter registration drives, which play an essential role in registering minority voters.

The League of Women Voters has been fighting for equal access to the polls since 1920. League volunteers have helped tens of thousands register or update their registration each election year, focusing on reaching groups that are underrepresented in the electorate. In 2011, the sixth year of our Public Advocacy for Voter Protection Project (PAVP), the League aggressively called on state legislatures to reject a whole range of voter suppression measures. In 18 states, we kept a sharp focus on opposing voter photo ID and proof-of-citizenship legislation, improving administration of statewide voter registration database systems, improving the workings of polling places, diversifying the Election Day workforce, and fighting against last minute barriers to voting. The national League worked in partnership with the state Leagues on hundreds of activities, including written and oral testimony at state legislative hearings; letters to the editor; op-eds and press conferences; activation of the League volunteer activists networks; coordination with allied groups on legal strategy; and pass-through grants to support state-level advocacy. The League generated wide-spread public and media attention through these efforts and succeeded in stopping voter suppression laws in 13 states.

To directly combat these attempts to disenfranchise specific groups of Americans, the League moved our voter registration efforts into high gear last year. We helped state and local Leagues carry out voter registration drives to register tens of thousands of new voters for the 2012 elections. We also urged state governments to fulfill their obligation to comply with federal laws — such as the National Voter Registration Act—that allow Americans to register to vote when they apply for social services.

In November, members of the House Judiciary Committee invited national League President Elisabeth MacNamara to speak at a forum, Excluded from Democracy: The Impact of Recent State Voting Law Changes, where she called attention to the dangers posed by the anti-voter laws sweeping the country and the League's efforts to stop them. The League spoke out against the U.S. Department of Justice's troublesome decision to allow the state of Georgia to implement the discriminatory requirement that new voters provide a passport or other proof of citizenship in order to register to vote. This new law could effectively prohibit thousands of eligible Georgians from exercising their right to vote because obtaining such documents is surprisingly difficult and expensive.

The League also launched a vigorous defense of the electoral system itself. The U.S. House of Representatives tried to terminate the Election Assistance Commission (EAC). The EAC was set up following the 2000 presidential election to improve the reliability, (continued) trustworthiness and administration of America's elections. The League successfully called on Congress not to eliminate the EAC, the only federal agency fully devoted to improving our elections. The League also urged President Obama to appoint two new commissioners to the vacant seats on the EAC to ensure that the agency is better equipped to serve the electorate in 2012.

The League worked to mitigate the damage caused by Citizens United by pushing Congress to take steps to ensure the integrity of America's elections through greater disclosure and a stepped up commitment to remaining campaign finance laws. One of the most important bulwarks against corruption is the presidential public financing system, which has given average citizens a critically important role to play in choosing our presidents. Though the system is outdated, it needs to be repaired, not repealed. In 2011, the League aggressively opposed legislation in both the House and Senate that would have abolished presidential public financing. We continue to call for legislation that would modernize the system to give citizens greater influence in presidential elections and, thus, in the workings of our government.

The Supreme Court struck another blow against clean elections with its decision in McComish v. Bennett, overturning Arizona's voter-approved Clean Elections Act, which provides matching funds to make it possible for candidates who opt-in to the public financing system to compete against more wealthy, privately-funded candidates. The League filed an amicus brief in the case, and remains deeply disappointed that the Court continues to undermine protections against corruption in America's elections.

The sorry state of America's elections is due not only to an unsympathetic Supreme Court and Congress's refusal to pass tougher campaign finance laws, but also to the failure of the Federal Election Commission (FEC) to enforce the laws we do have. Five of the six FEC commissioners are serving expired terms, and three of them blatantly refuse to do their jobs. The League called on President Obama to end his inaction and nominate five new FEC commissioners to begin the process of fixing this broken system and restoring the integrity of our campaign finance laws.

In 2011 and 2012, the League of Women Voters stood up for citizens by working tirelessly to protect the integrity of America's democratic institutions. We came out strongly against a proposed amendment that would have gutted the Office of Congressional Ethics (OCE). While the House Ethics Committee has failed to police congressional malfeasance, the bipartisan OCE has done an outstanding job of protecting the integrity of the House, and the League urged its role in the ethics enforcement process be strengthened and expanded.

The League also called on the "Super Committee" on Deficit Reduction to disclose the efforts of special interests to influence its decision-making process, as well as the campaign contributions Committee members received during their deliberations. We warned that failure to do so would reinforce the public's mistrust of the process and delegitimize the Committee's work.

Government transparency and accountability are core to a strong and healthy democracy. In March, the League co-hosted the 6th Annual Sunshine Week Dialogue in Washington, DC. Entitled, The Road Forward on Open Government, the event brought together (cont'd)

Part III, lines 4 a, b, and c, Exempt purpose achievements, continued: transparency experts from inside and outside government to discuss the extent to which the Obama Administration has met its goal of "creating an unprecedented level of openness in government." The event was available via webcast and many state and local Leagues hosted "viewing parties" in their communities. Local Leagues have a long tradition of sitting in on government meetings as observers for their communities. To help Leagues and other citizen groups assess local governments' use of online technology to promote openness and accessibility, the national League drafted a resource guide, "Sunshine 2.0" National League Executive Director Nancy Tate has frequently been asked for advice concerning implementation of the Knight Commission report, Informing Communities: Sustaining Democracy in the Digital Age. Relatedly, she was invited to participate in the Aspen Institute's prestigious Forum on Communications in Society, which explored the growing impact of network technologies on communities, citizens and citizenship.

In 2011, the League called for reform of the rules governing the U.S. Senate. In place of a deliberative process that prioritizes open debate, accountability, and cooperation, the Senate has descended into gridlock and partisan warfare at great cost to our nation. The debate, use of filibuster and holds, often done in secret and out of the view of the American people, does a disservice to our democracy. The League called upon Senators to reform the Senate rules in a way that maintains the chamber's best traditions and ends needless obstructionism. The League spoke out in opposition to the inclusion of any policy riders in appropriations bills for Fiscal Year 2011. This was in response to passage of the House Continuing Resolution (H.R. 1) in February, which included riders that made extensive and damaging cuts to critical public health, worker safety, consumer, civil rights, and environmental programs—without the full deliberation and debate afforded by the legislative process.

Passage of the Affordable Care Act was one of the League's most celebrated victories of 2010, and one the League had to defend aggressively in 2011. The League lobbied U.S. Senators to oppose legislation that would have repealed the law. We argued that health care reform was already improving coverage and access for millions of Americans, and that repealing the Affordable Care Act would add $230 billion to the national deficit over the next 10 years and leave about 54 million Americans without insurance.

The League recognizes that global climate change is one of the greatest threats to our nation's security and environmental and economic health, and believes that strong U.S. leadership to address this issue is imperative. In March, as part of a diverse coalition, the League urged the U.S. Senate to block House-passed cuts to international investments to address the causes and consequences of a changing climate. These modest investments are vital to promote global stability and security, create economic opportunities for U.S.

businesses and workers, address global health challenges, and ensure cost savings through disaster preparedness measures. (continued)

Part III, line d, Other program services: The national League also finished redesigning its website, www.lwv.org, to better incorporate the voices of League members and activists across the country and to develop a more engaging online presence for the next generation of League members and supporters. The new site launched in Fall 2011. Our Facebook page has already proved to be very successful and we are now on Twitter (@lwv).

Part VI, line 6: The League of Women Voters of the United States is a membership organization.

Part VI, line 7a: Affiliated local and state Leagues around the nation send delegates to the League's biennial Convention which elects the national Board.

Part VI, line 11A: The League's accounting staff prepares the Form 990, which is reviewed by the Executive Director and Deputy Executive Director before signing. The Executive Committee of the Board reviews the Form 990 with the executive staff soon after the Form 990 is filed.

Part VI, line 12c: The League President and executive staff ensure that all officers, directors and key employees submit written conflict of interest statements. The Deputy Executive Director reviews and approves all contracts and payments to ensure that no conflicts of interest exist.

Part VI, line 15: The Board determines the goals of the Executive Director each year. The President conducts an annual review of the executive director based on these goals, which is supported by written documentation. The President uses the results of the annual review along with independently prepared comparability data to determine the executive director's compensation which is documented on a personnel action form.

Part VI, line 17: States with which a copy of this Form 990 are required to be filed: Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

Part VI, lines 18 and 19: The League posts copies of its Form 990s on its public website and also makes the Forms available upon request by email, mail and for public inspection at its office during normal business hours. The League's Form 1024, which was originally filed during the 1920s, no longer exists. The League's articles of incorporation, bylaws and other governing documents are available to the public through the League's website, www.lwv.org.

Part VII, Section A, Column D, Reportable Compensation from the Organization: Executive Director Nancy Tate and Director of Finance and Information Technology Greg Leatherwood both work approximately 25 hours per week for the League of Women Voters of the United States and 25 hours per week for the League of Women Voters Education Fund.
