

Rally held in West Palm Beach to fight Roe v. Wade reversal

pro choice demonstrators scattered in West Palm Beach this evening. They look to send a message both to the Supreme Court and to lawmakers who CTV News Channel five's Todd Wilson with reaction from both sides on the potential impact here in Florida Todd.

Well, a group that gathered here at the federal courthouse in West Palm Beach said that they were angry but also disappointed over the possible ruling.

Demonstrators chanted with a shared message making sure their voices are heard is healthcare. It is illegal, right? Well, we welcome back the League of Women Voters and Planned Parenthood rallied in response to an unprecedented leak, indicating the Supreme Court is prepared to overturn Roe vs. Wade 30 days once Roe v Wade is overturned 30 states in this country will automatically manage more like any gathered here to say they worry about access to abortion and reproductive rights. If the High Court indeed overturns the 1973 ruling, they say the decision should be left to doctors and their patients, not politicians and judges. I honestly believe that men could get pregnant you could get an abortion anywhere. Really Guardiola with Palm Beach right to life says if the final decision is to overturn Roe vs. Wade it's a decision long overdue but at that his work will not end there.

This is gonna be all hell. I mean, this is where the fight really starts or do expect Florida to move toward an abortion ban if given the opportunity.

If we're going to ban abortions, guess what? Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, they're all gonna say let's go to Florida. They have 56 abortion clinics. Let's go and hammer Morrison's. Well, the group that gathered here at the federal courthouse today said that they're calling for national marches on May 14 in West Palm Beach, Todd Wilson WP TV NewsChannel five