

League of Women Voters Prepare for Election Day in Oklahoma

Wed, Feb 01, 2023 10:14AM • 1:52

70% of Oklahomans who are eligible to vote are registered. But a small fraction of that number actually show up on Election Day. Ms. knightstalker Daphna shares how this nonpartisan group is working to get more Oklahomans to the polls.

were less than one month out from Election Day and Oklahomans have until October 24. To request an absentee ballot they need to have that returned in person. By November 8. The League of Women Voters is working to make sure every Oklahoman is ready to participate you're actually even doing door knocking for democracy we are in there's an organization with whom we work it's let's fix this cleanup Oklahoma. We've edited it to get people to the goals to the polls initiative.

The nonpartisan group has published voter guides that you can find online and at local libraries plus there are so many other ways to learn about candidates. That excuse of, I don't know enough, should not be an option Oklahoma voter portal Ballotpedia. There's a lot of great resources digital resources, we also have vote 411 which is a digital way to look up what's on my ballot. Also. So many of the candidates now have social media platforms and ways to research and to learn and another great option is to hear from candidates during debates. The league says every single vote makes a difference.

We want folks to know that their vote matters and accounts and so we're just encouraging civic engagement education candidate involves, you know, getting to know your candidate and we're wanting to help in any way possible.

On October 25, several Oklahoma County candidates will be available for a meet and greet this will be at Mercy mission building from six to 8pm. I'm Jordan daphnids for Oklahoma zone. News Nine